

Software Assessment

There are several choices when it comes to software packages for the equipment finance industry. For a business that focusses on their core competency of leasing and lending, it's tough to spend the time and effort necessary to navigate multiple vendors and technology options. Not to mention, it's difficult to get an objective perspective on what would work best for your business. Tamarack has a leasing system scorecard that can help you choose the right lease management system.

Our experienced team can help you answer these questions and more:

- » With so many equipment finance origination and lease accounting systems available, how do I determine which ones meet my business needs and budget?
- » How do I align my software applications with my business goals?
- » Are there opportunities to automate my current processes?
- » What process improvements would make us leaner, more efficient, and nimble?
- » How can I integrate our current solution with other software packages?

Tamarack is an independent software solution consultancy to help you answer these questions. We have performed multiple software assessments evaluating industry market leaders and our client's priorities to architect the best solution.
